Sourced from 50-year-old vines in the German village of Norheim, Kirschheck is a steep south-facing grey-clay slate vineyard producing nervy and energetic rieslings. Nectarine, ginger and jasmine are supported with dried lemon peel and searing acidity and sweetness. Drink from 2027 to 2040. 8.5%

Oberhäuser Leistenberg Riesling Kabinett, Dönnhoff 2024

From the estate's oldest vineyard site, the Leistenberg's grey slate and steep south eastern slopes produce outstanding rieslings that are delicious immediately but certainly has ageing potential. There is juiciness and concentration that is supported by nervy acidity and a slight saltiness to the finish. Plenty going on in the glass with fresh stone fruits and citrus. Drink from 2026 to 2036. 8.5%

Roxheimer Höllenpfad Dry Riesling, Dönnhoff 2024

The Höllenpfad vineyard meaning 'path to hell' references the steep slopes and the red sandstone soils. It is hard work to manage this steep site in the Nahe, but the resulting wine is surely worth it. There is plenty going on in the glass with citrus peel and steeliness and lots of salinity on the finish. There is a restrained concentration that shows the wine's quality. Drink from 2026 to 2036. 12.5%
