Collioure Blanc, Domaine du Col de Mollo 2017

Domaine Jones Hairy Grenache 2019

Katie Jones comes from Leicestershire but makes wine in the Languedoc-Roussillon. This particular wine was supposed to be grenache but it turns out it's a rare, rot-resistant variant called lledoner pelut. For this first, very ripe vintage, Katie has made an outrageously delicious barbecue-friendly red.

Domaine Jones Blanc "A Different Direction" 2019

A joyous blend of traditional grapes from this part of the deep south of France knitted together in perfect harmony. It has the lovely mineral streak of grenache gris, lifted fruit of grenache blanc and a dollop of richness from the macabeu. Katie and Jean-Marc usually bottle their wines as single varieties, hence the 'different direction' taken with this blend. We hope you'll agree that, like the debut 2018, it's a path well worth travelling.

Leithaberg Blaufränkisch, Péter Wetzer 2017

The elephant in the room, Leithaberg is just across the border in Austria, and arguably where the finest bläufränkisch is found. This is possibly Hungarian winemaker Péter Wetzer's most 'complete' wine: the nose is disarming but not obvious, with warm red fruit mixing with cracked black pepper and sweet spices, and the palate is full but not heavy, with grippy tannins that'll soften with time and a long, linear finish. Given that time this will improve significantly.

Product Code	HU1331	Dominant Grape	Blaufränkisch
Product Type	Red Wine	Drink Dates	Now to 2030
Origin	Austria	Alcohol Level	13.5%
Style	Medium Bodied	Closure type	Cork, natural
Vintage	-	Price £	21.50 / Bottle

Spern Steiner Kékfrankos, Péter Wetzer 2017

Spern Steiner is certainly Péter Wetzer's 'wildest' wine in 2017, with aromas of blood orange and nectarine alongside flavours of red-apple skin, nutmeg and cinnamon with tangy acidity and powdery tannins. We'd recommend pouring a hearty glug into your glass to see how the flavours and texture change over time.

François d'Allaines, Auxey-Duresses Blanc 2015

An excellent blend from across the Auxey-Duresses region, with over a third coming from the appellation's best vineyard, Les Autés. Fermented then matured for about a year in barrel, leading to a rich and powerful wine with an intense honeysuckle-scented aroma and good length of flavour.

San Román, Toro 2014

A potent conception, made from 100% tinta de toro (aka tempranillo) old vines located on sandy soils with clay sub-soils. Plump, opulent and showing the typical intensity that comes with Toro's continental climate, this needs time in a decanter to show its full range of aromas and flavours.

Château Grand Corbin Despagne, Saint-Emilion 2015

The 204th vintage by the Despagne family on the Grand Corbin terroir, and the knowledge built up over generations is clearly reflected in the wine. Côte-Rôtie Viailière, Domaine Clusel Roch 2013

Wines from this excellent, steep Rhône vineyard always tend to be sinewy and backward and are often used to provide backbone in many blends. Youthful austerity is rewarded with a few years cellaring. This offers dark, sleek black-cherry fruit, muscular and long, and would be perfect with game.

Gigondas, Le Poste, Château de Saint Cosme 2014

Louis Barruol likens this superb Rhône red to a great nebbiolo, at least on the basis that the soils are curiously similar to the region of Italy in which nebbiolo is most at home. It is, though, made from grenache planted quite high up and fully south-facing, and is very ripe, dramatic and for the long haul.

Louis Jadot, Meursault Premier Cru Poruzot 2015

Jadot often moderate the richness of a ripe vintage by partially blocking the malolactic fermentation to contribute some freshness. They keep wines 18 months in barrel and while it matures on the lees a savoury, oatmealy richness develops.

Hermitage Blanc, Les Rocoules, Domaine Marc Sorrel 2003

Rocoules is probably the best vineyard site in Hermitage for whites (which doesn't however stop Jaboulet from making some especially stylish red wine there too). It is also the flagship wine for Marc Sorrel, one of the few independent growers to have vines on Hermitage. The 2003 is a mighty wine indeed, drawing on its immense concentration and power to sustain it over the years. It still has some time but is drinking well now.

From what seems like a garage beneath a rather unprepossessing house on the outskirts of Tournon come minute quantities of outstanding Hermitage. Nyetimber Tillington Single Vineyard Brut 2013

Arguably England's finest sparkling wine and a Gold-medal winner at the 2020 International Wine Challenge, this is a blend of 76% pinot noir and 24% chardonnay from Nyetimber's finest single vineyard, Tillington.
