EXPLOR OUR
EXHIBITION RANGE
EXCEPTIONAL WINES CREATED FOR YOU

THE WINE SOCIETY 1874
thewinesociety.com/exhibition
Our Exhibition range is very special indeed. They are not just exceptional value for money. Each wine has been crafted to represent the unique qualities and nuances of their region, and showcase the wonderful relationships that our buyers enjoy with many of the world's best growers. They are often the result of many years’ work; a process of blending, tasting and negotiating with our suppliers to create truly exquisite wines for you.

Our Exhibition wines aren’t short of discerning fans; many wine industry educators use these wines as ‘benchmark’ examples of their type, a ringing endorsement indeed. And it’s not just industry experts that agree on the incredible quality on offer; our members often report these as their ‘special occasion’ wines, reserved for Sunday lunches, family get-togethers or even particularly good (or bad!) Wednesdays.

This selection is a perfect first step into the world of fine wine – weekend treats and weeknight indulgences that you can explore with confidence. At a starting price of £9.50, not to mention a saving on an exploratory mixed case, there has never been a better time to join the thousands of members who already count our Exhibition wines as all-time favourites.

REDS

The Society’s Exhibition Juliénas 2013
A robust, food-friendly wine with tart-redcurrant flavours, fine tannins and intriguing minerality. According to some, Juliénas is where the first vines were planted in Beaujolais, with the name reputedly a nod to Julius Caesar. The vines are up in the hills, some on quite steep slopes of granite or schist. Pair with sausages, creamy cheeses or the umami flavours of mushroom risotto. 13%

The Society’s Exhibition Fleurie 2015
The 2015 vintage produced a crop of juicy, plump Fleurie and this is no exception. This exclusive blend of three wines made with Jean-Marc Darbon at Aujoux has lovely blueberry and strawberry aromas and a creamy, light palate which reflects the ripeness of the vintage. Great lift and an enchanting floral freshness give this Beaujolais a very pretty finish. 13.5%

The Society’s Exhibition Peumo Merlot 2015
Chile makes some exceptional merlots, and this is a refined and polished example of the style, with juicy aromas and flavours of cedar and ripe-berry. Fine tannins and bright acidity makes this example food-friendly and refreshing, elevating tomato-based pasta dishes to something very special indeed. 14%

The Society’s Exhibition Pinotage, Stellenbosch 2014
Produced for us once again by the pinotage masters at Kanonkop, this rich and spicy full-bodied South African red is fermented in open concrete vessels, adding velvety fruit flavour and soft tannins. Deep and vibrant in colour, it shows plum and red-fruit notes and a smooth fleshy palate. A juicy gourmet burger would make the perfect partner for Saturday night dinner: Now to 2021. 14%

The Society’s Exhibition Mendoza Malbec 2015
A fresh yet intense Argentine malbec with a beguiling floral perfume, from the cool 2015 vintage which produced aromatic and intensely flavoured wines. This blend of malbecs is from the region’s best vineyards and was aged for 14 months in barrel. Luscious ripe fruit flavours, silky tannins and a fresh finish make this a gorgeous match with a rich bean chilli or meaty stew. Now to 2023. 13.5%

The Society’s Exhibition Hawke’s Bay Red 2014
Craggy Range have supplied this merlot-dominated Bordeaux blend for the second year, from a vintage that Jancis Robinson MW described as ‘nigh-on perfect’ for this part of New Zealand. Fresh and cassis-laden, this is bursting with rich, ripe bramble-fruit flavours and is well-supported by firm tannins. Savoury leather or cedar notes will develop with a little cellar age. Now to 2020. 13.5%

£12.95 bottle  £155 dozen

The Society’s Exhibition Crozes-Hermitage 2014
A deeply expressive Rhône red with oodles of tarry, blueberry fruit and a supple, ripe-tasting palate. The 2014 vintage is a blend of three elements, all from the syrah grape but from different Crozes vineyards. This would benefit from decanting, and is absolutely delicious with the salty richness of duck or cured ham. Now to 2020. 12.5%

The Society’s Exhibition Douro 2013
This fragrant and well-structured blend of Douro grape varieties, traditionally trodden by human foot in granite lagares is made by Society favourites Quinta do Vale Meão in Portugal’s Upper Douro, and held back to allow it a little more ageing in bottle. The wine is still young, so decant it to allow the lush dark-berry character here to blossom. Now to 2023. 14%

The Society’s Exhibition Haut-Médoc 2012
A firm favourite with members, Château Beaumont, supplies us with this friendly, fruit-forward claret, offered in its irresistible youth, though it has a long life ahead. Plum and blackcurrant dominate, with a touch of spice adding complexity and depth. The palate is soft and supple with just enough tannin to provide structure while still making for delicious drinking without food, although this is an excellent ‘red meat’ wine. Now to 2024. 13%
